Legal services

...at work

Prospect members have access to a range of legal services for work and non-work related issues.

The union offers advice and assistance on issues like: contracts of employment, discrimination, family rights, unfair dismissal and redundancy. All workplace and other legal assistance is offered at the union's discretion, and decided on the facts/merits of each case.

If appropriate, Prospect will represent members in legal cases in employment tribunals or the courts.

Prospect's personal injury scheme provides high-quality legal advice if you're injured or fall ill because of the negligence of a third party.

Outside work

Prospect also offers:

- a 24-hour legal helpline on non-work matters
- clinical negligence advice – initial advice on claims from our solicitors
- advice on defamation – initial advice from our solicitors
- welfare benefits advice – and representation at tribunals, where appropriate
- a range of other discounted legal services.

...for your family

Most non-work related benefits, including the personal injury scheme and the Legal helpline advice service, are also available to the member's partner, spouse or children under the age of 19.

Careers

Career and personal development

Prospect offers a range of free and low-cost personal and career development resources, including access to careersmart.org.uk which offers impartial information on a range of subjects, including career progression, pensions, self-employment and CV writing.

The site also includes a skills career audit, salary calculator and checker and career development podcasts.

Higher education discounts

A number of universities and colleges offer course discounts for union members. These include Birkbeck, University of London and the National Extension College.

Engineering jobs

Members looking for a career in the advanced manufacturing and engineering sector can register for free with Prospect partner, Talent Retention Solution.

talentretention.co.uk

Energy Club

Members can save money on their energy bills with the exclusive Prospect Energy Club. There are several switches a year. The more people who join, the lower your bills! See
