

BT London Circular

Prospect wishes all readers a relaxing holiday period

Whether you mark Christmas or not, love it or find all the shopping a bit much, it's the time of year to take a break and make plans for the year ahead.

2021 has been another tough year for many but Prospect in London has continued to pick up and deal with members issues and pursue our agenda to maintain and improve terms and conditions for members with BT.

However you plan to spend time over Christmas this year, taking time out to relax and reflect is essential. Prospect will be back as ever in 2022. For our agenda, please read on.

Better Workplace and One Braham

BT Centre has now closed and the new London HQ at One Braham, Aldgate is now open. Prospect is planning a regular presence from January 2022, so if you are going into the building look out for Prospect reps.

On the wider Better Workplace front, we continue to keep a close eye on matters with BT and take up issues and concerns that individuals have with the appropriate Better Workplace team. Don't hesitate to get in touch if things are not working out in your case.

Time for a pay rise

Philip Jansen has been clear that in 2022 BT will increase pay after a two-year freeze. Prospect is already in dialogue with BT on the matter but clearly the actual pay rise won't come through until late Spring 2022.

There are real pressures on people's incomes with rising inflation, fuel and energy costs. All that means that in reality BT managers and professionals have had a real term pay cut. That must be reversed and that must be done for everyone, across the board.

Prospect members in BT have been some of those who have kept working and kept the company and the economy going during the pandemic period, probably the most difficult working environment most will have known. That too needs to be recognised in pay terms now.

Look out for national comms from Prospect on the launch of a pay campaign and importantly what you and your colleagues can do to help make sure that the campaign leads to a decent and appropriate pay increase in 2022.
